As the curtain falls on another school year, we stop to reminisce. The activities this year—dances, plays, games, assemblies, class work—will be remembered by all of us long after this school year has ended.

The purpose of this book is always to keep alive the memories of those friendships made and of the happy hours spent in Ashland High School.

It is the hope of the 1947 Guide Staff that this book will help each of you to—"in the future, see the past."

ADMINISTRATION AND CLASSES

A successful production depends upon full cooperation between the actors and the producers and the directors. This same cooperation is necessary in a smooth running school between the students and the faculty and the administration. The faculty and the administration direct the students in gaining the knowledge they will need to become successful actors on the world stage.

ENGLISH

The foundation for senior high English is begun in the seventh and eighth grade English classes when the students study the principles of construction, spelling, and vocabulary. A more thorough study of grammar is started in the ninth grade, and literature is added to the course of grammar, vocabulary, and spelling in the tenth grade. The eleventh grade is devoted to reading short stories, essays, dramas, and poems. Twelfth grade English is a more technical study of grammar, vocabulary, and spelling; this study is based on a college entrance level.

The remainder of the English department is made up of journalism, speech, and the library. Journalism students gain experience by writing the School News and by publishing the Panorama. Teaching poise to the students, is the main purpose of the speech classes; and the library furnishes reliable and complete references for the various classes.

MATHEMATICS

The mathematics department of Ashland High School offers a complete line of courses in mathematics, ranging from seventh grade arithmetic to trigonometry for juniors and seniors.

The fundamental processes, of which every student should have a workable knowledge, are taught in the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades; these subjects are required.

In the ninth grade, when students choose their own courses, a course in general mathematics is taught for those students whose vocational interests do not require a knowledge of the higher mathematics. First year algebra is given to those who plan to go on to college and for those interested in higher math. Plane geometry may be elected in the tenth year, followed by half year courses in advanced algebra, solid geometry, and trigonometry in the junior and senior years.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

The purpose of the social science classes is to graduate students who will make responsible citizens of the United States.

History and geography in the seventh grade form the foundation. This is followed by Ohio history and citizenship in the eighth grade, where students learn more about our own state. World history is elective in the tenth grade; United States history is required in the eleventh grade. In the senior year American problems provides students with a knowledge of the duties and the functions of government.

SCIENCE

Because of the increasing interest in and great opportunities for careers in the huge and ever-expanding fields of science, more and more Ashland High School students are turning to the sciences as major subjects.

The basic fundamentals are taught in the eighth grade science classes. Pupils learn principles of astronomy, botany, and zoology.

General science is required of all students in the ninth grade. Studying the principles of radio and the combustion engine, pupils learn the practical side of science as well as form a background for biology, chemistry, and physics.

In biology both zoology and botany are covered. Animals from the prehistoric age up to the present are studied. Conservation of wild life, plant life, soil, and a study of dangers to our existence are also studied.

Girls in the hygiene classes make a complete study of physiology and anatomy. Personalities and good grooming are also studied.

Basic electricity and fundamentals of machines are the two branches of physics taught in A. H. S.

In chemistry the pupils divide their time between textbooks and the laboratory. Individual experimentations supplements the classroom work.

Pre-flight aeronautics prepares students to be pilots by a study of meteorology, aerial navigation, operation of engines, plane identification, and civil aeronautics regulations. Government instruments for reading the weather are located on the school lawn and are read daily by these pupils.

FINE ARTS

The fine arts in this school include art and music. In the art classes the students learn the principles of painting, sketching, clay modeling, and craft work. Some of the outstanding class work is exhibited in the corridors of the school for the enjoyment of the faculty, student body, and visitors. The students help with the stage settings for the plays, with decorations for parties and for the school.

The music department, composed of the band, orchestra, and choir, is one of the finest in the state of Ohio. The members of the musical organizations attend regular classes to receive training and practice. Opportunity is given to any student interested in joining any of these groups to study under music teachers.

VOCATIONS

To meet the increased demand for courses to train pupils in occupations for immediate use after graduation, Ashland High School offers its pupils extensive subjects in this field. For the girls there are the home economics classes which give them a chance to study how to run a well-managed home. Boys interested in farming may receive a four-year course in agriculture, while boys interested in industrial arts may enter any one of the classes in introductory shop, machine shop, mechanical drawing, and woodwork. In the printing classes the students learn the fundamentals of printing through the printing of programs, advertisements, and tickets for the school.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The physical education program this year included the various sports in their season and an emphasis on calisthenics. These classes must be attended by all students in the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades and are elective in senior high.

As the students participate in the various sports they learn to be good sports and to work together. This will be invaluable to them in future years as well as during their high school life.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Ashland High School's curriculum includes a study of Latin, French, and Spanish. In the Latin classes a study of the meaning and construction of our own English language is an important part of the work. French gives the students a chance to study the customs of the French people while learning to read and speak the language itself. To help understand our South American countries, a course in Spanish is also taught in the school.

SENIOR COUNCIL

Ashland High School presents its latest production—"The Class of 1947." In June, when the premiere is held, critics and audiences alike will acclaim it as her greatest triumph.

Four years of preparation have gone into this technicolor production. In these four years are shown the progress and achievements the Senior Class has made.

Some of the first scenes were shot as the students entered their Freshman year. Against backgrounds of algebra and Latin classes, Ashland High School caught the students as they strove to master their problems and learn declensions.

The next sequence of shots she took during their Sophomore year. These scenes depicted the class as they entered into more school activities and displayed skill in music, scholarship, and athletics. Ashland High School viewed her partially finished dramatization with the satisfaction of knowing that with this production she would be giving to the world a hope for tomorrow.

Producers, directors, and characters all worked together to make the filming of the Junior year the most important thus far. The year included: the election of the Junior cabinet, the choosing of class colors and rings, the Junior Class play, "Nothing But the Truth," and culminated with the planning of the Junior-Senior Prom.

Ashland High School devoted the final year of filming to portraying the students in their rolls as leaders in organizations, dramatics, music scholarship, and athletics. As one of the final acts the class presented the Senior Class play. This year's play entitled "Mrs. Moonlight" was a smashing success.

Climaxing four long hard years of work, Ashland High School as producer can look with pride upon this, her greatest production—a production worthy of the academy award of life.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

We, the members of the class of 1947, of the high school of Ashland, city of Ashland, state of Ohio, being of the age of four years and being of supposedly sound mind and memories; and it being our intention to dispose of all property, real, personal, or mixed, which we may own at the time of our graduation, do make public and declare this to be our last will and testimony in the following manner:

ARTICLE I To Principal Gorsuch we leave a new wire for the wire recorder to replace the one we have worn so badly.

ARTICLE II We leave Kenny Donelson's secret sleeping potion to Bill Jacobs, who will use it daily.

ARTICLE III We leave "Queen" Louise's football crown, but take Captain Harpster and Louise with us.

ARTICLE IV We leave to Fred Sigler, Bill Shoemaker's booklet entitled "How to Build Muscles."

ARTICLE V The position in the girl's gym that Evelyn Lindecamp has filled so well is vacated for Betty Roland.

ARTICLE VI The gavel Patti Mosher has used so skillfully is bequeathed to any capable junior who will promise to use it as wisely as she.

ARTICLE VII We bequeath Lee Hartman and Norma Hostettler's "A" grades to any underclassmen who have the initiative to work for them.

ARTICLE VIII We would like to leave "Red" Crosby, but he insists on coming with us.

ARTICLE IX We leave Dick (I know my whiskey) Lowe's mystery of why his trunk was so heavy to anyone in the future who can win the Alcoholic Test and a free trip to Florida.

ARTICLE X We bequeath Mary Russell and Jim Kilcher's spot at Countryside to George Devor, Barbara Beer, or any other couple in need of private parking.

ARTICLE XI The "True Confession" magazines that Allen Stumbaugh has read so thoroughly are left to Richard Aleshire so that he, too, can benefit from them.

ARTICLE XII To Jack Purdy we leave a formula devised by Norman Fierbaugh on "Transportation Problems" or "How to Get a Ride to Ruggles."

ARTICLE XIII The senior class leaves Llew John's winning smile, catchers mit, and Betty Baird to any underclass boy capable of handling them properly.

ARTICLE XIV We bequeath Room 121, a huge bottle of headache tablets, and Mr. Murray to the industrious wizards who are chosen for the Guide Staff next year.

ARTICLE XV For each teacher we leave a copy of "How to Win Friends and Influence People," which they must promise to read every grade card day.

ARTICLE XVI We leave to the freshmen class three more years of trials and tribulations.

ARTICLE XVII We bequeath to the junior class the hope that they will enjoy being seniors as much as we have.

ARTICLE XVIII Last, but not least, we leave everything that we have heretofore been entitled to: The sound of the chimes, the well-worn text books, the right to cheer at games, play in the band, attend the Hi-Y-Koda Klub formal, vote at elections, walk the corridors as students—all of these privileges are now gone, and all we have remaining are the fond memories of four splendid years of school. These shall remain with us all forever.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

Act I. A morning in the office of a business man.

The secretary enters and starts to type.

A business man enters and sits at his desk.

Bea. Good morning, Mr. Robbins.

Rex. I hope this is going to be a good morning, Miss Garrison. What is the date today?

Bea. It's May 29, 1967. Is anything wrong?

Rex. Yes, I have to get a rush letter off immediately. Address it to Mr. Richard Hess, president of the Hess Automobile Company.

Bea. Hess? Pardon me for the interruption, but wasn't there a Richard Hess in our graduation class?

Rex. Why yes, he was quite a brain. No wonder he has invented this new motorless automobile.

Bea. He was that dark curly haired boy.

Rex. I don't like to disagree with you, but I'm sure he had blond, straight hair.

Bea. Well, we can soon find out; I have an old Guide over here on the book stand. It won't take but a minute to find out.
The secretary goes to the bookcase to get the old Guide. She blows off the dust and carries it back to the desk. They start leafing through the Guide.

Rex. There's Mr. Gorsuch, our old principal. He's now the president of the Rowsburg University. He just recently announced that the school will no longer require students to attend classes. Recent surveys have shown that if students attend classes, the teachers must also attend classes. This overworks the teachers.

Bea. And Mr. Purdy. Remember him at our sports rallies?

Rex. Isn't he the president of some university too?

Bea. Yes, the Pikes Peak University. That's the place where everyone gets high grades and there are no failures. Oh good, here is our graduation class.

Rex. William Chandler, what did we call him? Was it Bill, no Marvin; oh, it was Fred Chandler, my old buddie. He and a Crosby—Red Crosby—now have a monopoly on the Lake Erie region. They finally bought out Charlie Ruggles and it is now the Chandler-Crosby Beach.

Bea. Now here was a good kid, Dirty Dalton. Remember, Miss Foust, our problems teacher, gave him a C every estimate and kept him off the first honor roll. He and Paul Wittman, that great sociologist, have just completed their book on today's problems. It has just been released by the censors.

Bea. I just saw Anne Hatton's picture in the paper the other evening. She is going to Mexico as an exchange Spanish teacher. This is a movement to promote the good-neighbor policy which has been renewed just recently by President Archibald Soules.

Rex. Say, there was an excellent write-up in the last issue of Time Magazine about Carl Strine. After making a fortune he has finally retired from his successful boxing career. He is now living the life of Shoemaker on his large estate in Southern France.

Bea. The city of Fitchville has announced the completion of the Lee Hartman Clinic. Everyone is eager to hear who Mr. Hartman will appoint as head nurse on his staff. They say it is very evident that she will be Nurse Janet Worst.

Rex. I hear that David Kick, Mayor of Rock City, Little America, will run again for office. He is closing his second term, which has been marked by petty bickering among his official family. It seems the City Treasurer, Charles Dilgard, has accused the City Clerk, Richard Miller, of stealing the pencil sharpener from his desk.

Bea. And the Preston Sisters. They are now the leading stylists of Paris, France, who predict that women will wear fur coats this summer. This will do away with the necessity of storing fur coats to keep them away from moths.

Rex. Did you hear about the terrible time they had outside the Warner Brothers' new studios yesterday at lunchtime? It seems that Bob Harpster, the late winner of the Oscar Award, has been followed by his numerous fan-club members clear to Hollywood.

The business man looks at his watch and sees that it is lunchtime.

Rex. Here it is lunchtime already, and I haven't dictated that letter yet. Oh well, it wasn't worth it anyway. I'm hungry right now. Where's the best place for food and entertainment?

Bea. Why not try the little cafe around the corner? They serve very good fish dinners for $10.00. Their entertainment is excellent also. Dick Robbins and his Crows are playing there this week, featuring their talented singer, Sue Sheets.

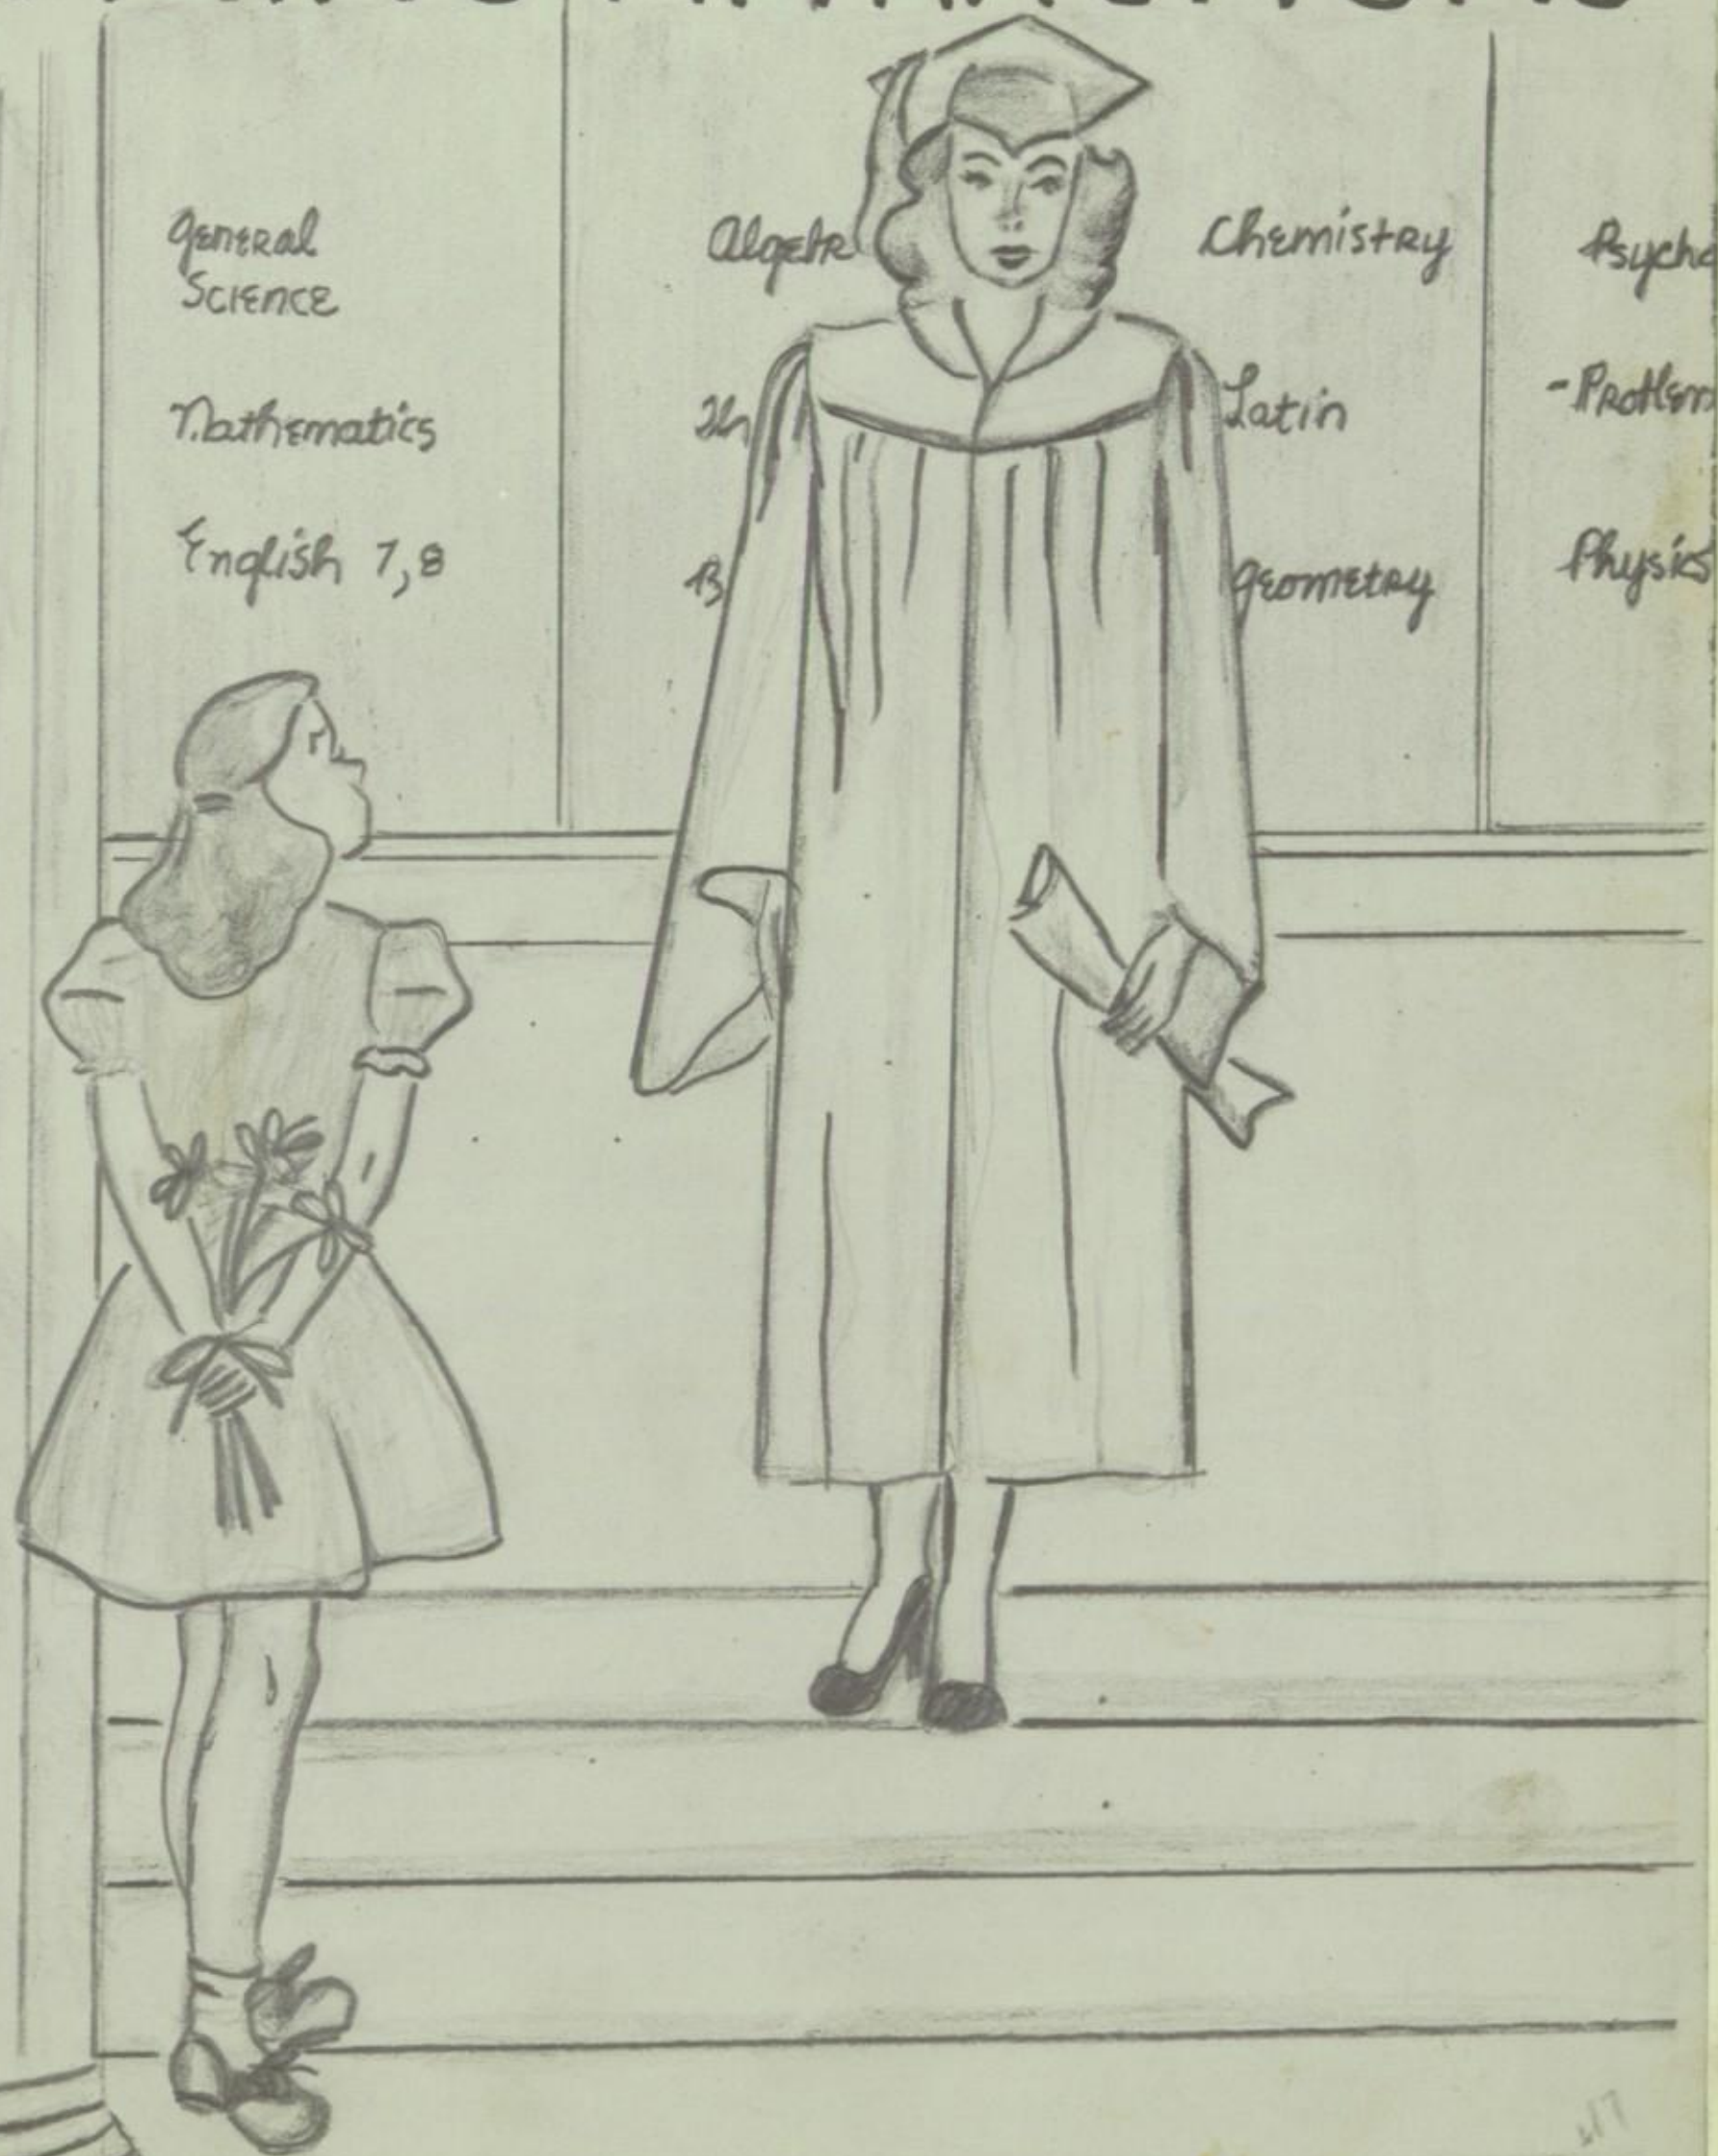

Rex. That sounds fine to me. We'll go together.

Bea. I'd love to.

JUNIOR CABINET

It seems only yesterday that the Class of '48 entered Ashland High School. We were seventh graders then and a little hesitant and bewildered by the new world of strange faces and new customs. However, we grew more confident day by day and by the time we were Freshmen we had taken a definite place in A. H. S. We found much pleasure in participating in the school's activities—clubs, sports, music, and dramatics and before we knew it our Freshman year was over.

We returned to Ashland High after a summer of work and play to find the teachers, who by now had become our friends, ready to aid and guide us through another year of high school work. In this—our Sophomore year—we began to take notice of our class. We were not entirely individuals now but a team, working together to further our class and our school. We were proud of the members of our class who participated on the scholarship team and those whose names appeared on the honor roll.

Another summer passed and we again returned to A. H. S.—this time as Juniors. This year our class was really formed. We selected our class rings, elected our officers, chose our class colors and produced a successful Prom. We prided ourselves on being the first class in the history of Ashland High School to adopt a standardized class ring.

As we look forward to entering our Senior year we hope that someday Ashland High School may be as proud of the class of 1948 as we are of Ashland High School.

Eddie Gilliam

JUNIORS

For the first time in high school, the class is officially organized. The students, along with the elected officers, work throughout the year to prepare themselves for future responsibilities. The main activities undertaken by the class in the Junior year is the presentation of the Junior class play and the sponsoring and planning of the Junior-Senior Prom.

SOPHOMORES

As the students become older, they participate in more activities and organizations around the school. Personalities are developed as each person tries to lend something to the class as a whole. In preparation for next year, when their class will be truly organized, they learn more of the duties and activities which are expected of them as a class and not just as individuals.

Memoriam—

Nancy Copeland, a member of the sophomore class, after a valiant fight for life, died on November 5, 1946. This small, dark haired girl, although a student at Ashland High School for only a short time, won many friends by the courage she showed following the amputation of her left leg in the spring of 1946.

Nancy, who was an accomplished musician, was very active in the musical organizations of the school. She was a member of the band and pianist for the junior choir.

EIGHTH GRADE

The biggest task these pupils undertake during their year in the eighth grade, is to plan and make out their schedules for the next four years of high school. Having become more acquainted with the traditions and customs of Ashland High School, the eighth graders take their place as a definite part of the school.

CONCERT MISTRESS
MARJORIE HENDRY

Playing the difficult music representative of large symphony orchestras, the Ashland High School orchestra thrills its audiences with every concert.

Known to music lovers from all around, the A. H. S. orchestra has a very distinctive feature—that of an exceptionally large and fine string section. The credit for this goes to Dr. Louis E. Pete, the head of the music department, for his work with special string classes in both summer and winter sessions. Members are chosen from the junior orchestra, where they learn a sense of timing and a feeling for music that qualifies them to take their places in the orchestra.

Giving music lovers of Ashland a chance to hear many of the truly fine and beautiful classics, the orchestra presents twilight concerts, as do the other music organizations of the school. These concerts are very well attended and very much appreciated by those who hear them.

STUDENT DIRECTOR
LOUIS FRITZ

At the football games, basketball games, rallies, and concerts, this organization demonstrates its ability as both a marching band and as a concert band. Under the direction of Dr. Pete, the members, clad in their traditional orange and black uniforms, display their talents at football games by giving clever half-time programs.

This organization also proves its musical ability at the twilight concerts given during the year.

One of the most thrilling and well-known organizations in the school is that of Ashland High School's versatile band.

STUDENT DIRECTOR
PATTI MOSHER

Well known and very much appreciated throughout the community for its musical ability is the Ashland High School A Capella Choir under the direction of Dr. Pete. Membership in this organization is obtained after at least one year of preparatory work in the junior choir.

Outstanding among its many achievements this year, the Choir gave a stirring and inspiring performance of the "Requiem." They also contributed much to the success of the fine Thanksgiving and Easter Assemblies this year. Also included in the year's program were the three very successful and enjoyable Twilight Concerts.

"ALL IN THE APRIL EVENING"

ON THEIR OWN

JUNIOR BAND AND JUNIOR CHOIR

The purpose of these two organizations is to help the students lay the foundation and gain the needed experience for participation in more advanced musical groups. The members of these organizations range from elementary schools to the eleventh grade.

The members of the junior band gain the experience of playing together by practicing after school.

The aim of every member of the junior band is to become a member of the orchestra or the senior band.

To become a member of the a capella choir, a student must first sing in the junior choir. Students learn to overcome shyness and to gain confidence by participating in the junior choir.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

One of the highest honors that can be obtained in Ashland High School is membership in the National Honor Society. Only 15% of the class may be chosen for membership in the society, which is based upon scholarship, leadership, character, and service. At the beginning of the year probational members are chosen according to the number of points received through the student and teacher vote, the activities they have engaged in, and the grades they have received in high school. During the remainder of the year, these students help around the school wherever they can.

In the spring of the year, the formal induction assembly is held, at which time final membership is granted.

THESPIANS

Gaining membership in Thespians is the object of all those students interested in dramatics or the activities connected with dramatics. Membership in Troupe 29 of the National Thespian Society, is obtained by earning points through the selling of play tickets, acting in plays, serving on committees, or in any way helping in the dramatics department.

In the fall the Thespians presented their annual full-length production. This year the play was of a psychological nature and was called, "Ladies in Retirement."

At the end of the school year, the Thespian Banquet is held. All those members and students who have contributed in any way to the plays attend. The annual dramatic awards are also announced at this time.

THESPIAN PLAY

The psychological thriller "Ladies in Retirement" was presented on November 22 by the members of the Thespian Troupe 29. Miss Betty Bartlett directed the production, assisted by Jean Lentz and Marilyn Shanefelter.

The play revolves about the sacrifices of a middle-aged woman, Ellen Creed (Marjorie Hall) for her two feeble-minded sisters, Louisa and Emily Creed (Norma Woelfling and Patricia Preston.) When Leonora Fiske (Donna Mohn) wishes to end the visit of the two sisters to her home, Ellen murders her in an attempt to protect the sisters. Albert Creed (Archie Soules), worthless nephew of the Creed sisters, figures out what happened to Miss Fiske and with the help of the maid (Kay Kennedy) tries to blackmail Ellen in an effort to stay at the house, away from the police. His plans are foiled when a nun (Marjorie Hendry) informs him that the police are drawing near. Ellen, to relieve her conscience, surrenders to the police, leaving her two sisters unattended.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

"Stardust," a hilarious three act comedy, was presented by the Junior Class on March 13 and 14. Miss Betty Bartlett, assisted by Pat Prestion and Herbert Heyl, directed the production.

The story revolves about a dramatics school and its students. Prudence Mason, a famous Broadway actress (Barbara Mosher), is invited to the school by the instructor, Mr. Bach (George Dever). Before she arrives Jerry Flanagan, a talent scout (Jack Sharr), arrives to offer Prudence a movie contract. Arthur Scott (Cliff Hurst) tries to persuade her to return to New York, but she refuses. Claire Carter (Karan Conant), a friend of Prudence, arrives to convince Prudence to accept the movie offer. After many difficulties the play is presented and the contract is fulfilled.

Other characters were: Dean of Women (Donna Mohn), Phil Ford (Ned Snow), Janet Ross (Phyllis Freer), Marion Phipps (Gloria Ferguson), John Redman (Jack Purdy), Cynthia Keene (Lois Johnson), Raemund Brown (Duane Anderson), Mavis Moriarity (Marion Scott), Miss Freeman (Lois Homerick), Miss Robinson (Betty Strang), Miss Jones (Pat Picking), Tad Voorhis (Doyle Saner), and Stella Brahms (Barbara Curtis).

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

On May 23 the Senior Class presented their play called "Mrs. Moonlight." Miss Betty Bartlett, assisted by Barbara Preston and Mary Russell, directed the play.

The story revolves about a wish to never grow old made by Mrs. Moonlight (Patti Mosher). Her wish is granted and it bothers her to the extent that she leaves home. Her family, thinking she has committed suicide, starts a search for her. The maid, Minnie (Marge Hall), is the only one who knows the truth about her disappearance.

Several years later Edith (Pat Preston) marries

Mr. Moonlight (David Kick). Twenty years after this marriage, Mr. Moonlight's niece, Joy, comes to visit them. Joy is in reality Mrs. Moonlight. Joy saves Jane, Mrs. Moonlight's daughter (Marge Hendry), from marrying the worthless Willie Ragg (Archie Soules). The family wants Jane to marry Percy Middling (Louis Fritz).

Jane marries Percy and they have a son, Peter (Charles Dilgard). When Peter is grown, a strange woman appears just as Mr. Moonlight is dying. Just before he dies, Mr. Moonlight realizes that this strange woman is really Mrs. Moonlight.

Dressed in attractive blue and white uniforms, the Ushers pass out programs, maintain order, and see that the people find their correct places in the auditorium.

The Ushers were chosen last spring from the members of the Junior Girl Reserves. The president of the club is always the head usher. The girls then received their first experience in ushering at the Senior Class play and commencement exercises held last spring.

To be an Usher a girl must have a pleasing personality, be reliable and courteous, and possess a good character.

The purpose of this organization, made up of junior and senior boys, is to establish and maintain the high standards of Christian character and leadership. This club is closely affiliated with the Y. M. C. A.

This organization has charge of presenting the annual Thanksgiving assembly. Reverend Jay Booth was the guest speaker at this year's assembly. In addition to this assembly, the boys presented a membership assembly. At this time the ideals and purposes of the club were presented, and the new members were taken into the organization.

Weekly meetings are held at the Y. M. C. A. Speakers, pot lucks, and round-table discussions are a part of the program. As one of the activities this year, the boys assisted in the city-wide collection of waste paper.

JUNIOR HI-Y

As the younger members of the Hi-Y club, the Junior Hi-Y is composed of freshman and sophomore boys. These boys must carry out the same ideas of clean living, clean speech, clean scholarship, and clean sportsmanship as the members of the Senior Hi-Y do.

The club holds its regular meetings at the Y. M. C. A. These meetings, patterned after those of the senior group, feature speakers, round-table discussions, potlucks, and game nights.

To create and maintain high standards of Christian living is the main object of the club. Throughout the year, the boys strive to live up to these high standards.

In addition to holding their regular meetings, the boys helped to plan the Koda Club and Hi-Y semi-formal dance held in February.

SENIOR GIRL RESERVES

A big undertaking this year by the Senior Girl Reserves was that of adopting seventh grade girls as little sisters. The purpose of this program was to teach the little sisters to be better Christians and members of society, which is also the purpose of the club.

As a part of the Y. W. C. A., the organization endeavors to create a more friendly and courteous feeling among senior girls.

Meetings were held twice a month, at which time there were speakers and parties. Some of the services rendered by the members were: helping in the March of Dimes campaign at the Ashland Theatre, packing gift boxes for the Jr. Red Cross, making scrapbooks for the service hospitals, and making scrapbooks for the Children's Hospital in Columbus.

Several highlights of the year were a get-acquainted party with the seventh grade girls, a joint meeting with the Jr. G. R., the traditional and impressive Easter assembly, and as a final meeting, a mother-daughter banquet.

Then the girls journeyed to Myers' Field to play soccer twice a week. Indoor sports continued, commencing with basketball. From the basketball teams two all-star teams were chosen and the traditional All-

Star game was held in March with the Army trimming the Navy 26-16. Bowling, volleyball, and recreational sports rounded out the winter. With spring hikes and softball the year's program of sports was ended.

Girls of the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades, who join the Junior Girl's Athletic Club, earn points toward the coveted "A" award by participating in various sports throughout the year. For the sports—kickball, basketball, and softball—practices are held for several weeks, after which time first and second teams are chosen. Points are given on the basis of 50 for first team and 25 for second team. Points are carried over into Senior G. A. C. and when they have earned 600 points they receive their "A."

As the main event of the year, the girls held a party for their mothers in the spring.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

With the increasing need for more farmers gaining every day, the F. F. A. takes its place among the most worthwhile and active organizations in the school. The members of this club are always working and striving to become successful future farmers of this country.

The aim of every boy in the Future Farmers of America is to become a state farmer. Each year many of the boys apply for this degree.

This year several of the members conducted a parliamentary procedure assembly before the students of the school. Other activities undertaken by the F. F. A boys were: exhibits at the county fair, athletic nights, parties with the F. H. A., and a father-son banquet.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

As future homemakers of America, these girls are banded together to learn more about domestic life in order to take their places in the homes of tomorrow. The one requirement for membership in this club is at least one year of home economics.

A formal initiation is held in the fall for new members. This year the club was hostess to the North Central Ohio Regional F. H. A.

Meetings are divided into business and social activities, including a potluck supper, a hard times party and several joint meetings with the F. F. A.

The purpose of the club is to give its members a chance to see and examine the beauty and usefulness of art. The different phases of art, painting, drawing, and sculpturing, are studied and enjoyed by the members.

An all-school dance was sponsored by the members of the Art Club this year. In addition to their regular meetings, the members held a potluck and attended a movie.

with the noon movie and dance program, sponsors the football homecoming celebration, helps in the Infantile Paralysis Drive, and establishes and controls the monitor system.

As they serve the school, they are putting into practice the democratic way of life.

LIBRARY SERVICE CLUB

Gathering passes, arranging books, checking books in and out, delivering books and magazines to the various classrooms, assisting the librarian, keeping order in the library, are all a part of the work of the members of the Library Service Club. The pupils must have a good scholastic standing in order to devote several study halls a week to their work in the library.

Aside from serving the school, the club holds several social meetings each year. The social activities this year included a hobo convention, at which time a king and queen were chosen, a Christmas luncheon, and a Valentine party.

CHEERLEADERS CLUB

Seeing that the teams get the encouragement they need to win, is the job of the cheerleaders; and whether on the football field or basketball floor, they are there to see that they get that encouragement.

Dressed in the orange and black of the school colors, they lead the fans in clever and spirit rousing cheers. Under the direction of Miss Coombs, the cheerleaders meet to practice cheers, plan new ones, and to plan rallies. Several new cheers were added this year as a result of these meetings.

SCHOLARSHIP TEAM

Each year students of Ashland High School compete in the district-state scholarship tests. During the war these tests were given locally, but for the last two years these tests were administered at Wooster.

Membership in the scholarship team is based on standings made in the preliminary tests given here; the three placing highest in the preliminaries. Certificates were awarded to those placing high in each subject.

After the preliminary tests had been given and the students chosen, teachers coached their students competing in the tests. This was done in an effort to help the students place high in the final tests.

PHOTOGRAPHY STAFF

One of the most important jobs around the school is that performed by the photography staff. This group of boys may be called upon at any time to take pictures. Pictures for the Panorama are taken and developed by these boys. In addition to this, the boys take the teacher and club pictures and special feature pictures for the Guide staff.

Under the direction of Mr. Murray, this group of boys not only take the pictures, but they also do their own developing, printing, retouching, reducing, and enlarging.

The boys are chosen for the photography staff according to their ability and interest in photography. During their work on the staff, they learn some of the arts of photography such as action shots, composition, and light exposure.

The success of every issue depends upon each member of the staff. This year's staff included:

Eddie Gilliam, news editor; Barbara Beer, feature editor; Arlene Dovenbarger, activities editor; Bill Mills, sports editor; Cliff Hurst, assistant sports editor; Lucile Yeagle, circulation manager; Jean Cowan, business manager; Gaynor Burns, artist; and Twila Miller and June Wolf, typists.

With seven lettermen back, Harpster, Drebus, Shoemaker, Hurst, McAllister, Stewart and M. Glasser the A's looked forward to revenge six losses received last year. It was evident after the first practice that competition for starting berths would be keen.

In the first test of the season the highly-spirited A's edged Willard 12-0. At the first glimpse of the griders, it was evident that they possessed plenty of speed and deception.

Having one victory under their belts, the Orange and Black bowed to defeat at Fremont to the score of 13-7. The A's fighting an uphill battle all the way were decisively beaten by a five yard penalty in the fourth quarter when they were on Fremont's seven yard line.

A week later the A's charged back to crush Tiffin Columbian 33-7. Fine blocking and a barrage of long runs spelled victory for Ashland. Hurst's running 90 yards turned in the longest run of the year. Strine, Fierbaugh, Johns and McAllister also reached pay dirt by fine runs.

A week later Captain Bob Harpster led his chargers to a victory at Sandusky. Scoring in the second and fourth quarters by Harpster and M. Glasser respectively proved too much for the Blue Streaks, who went down in defeat, 12-8.

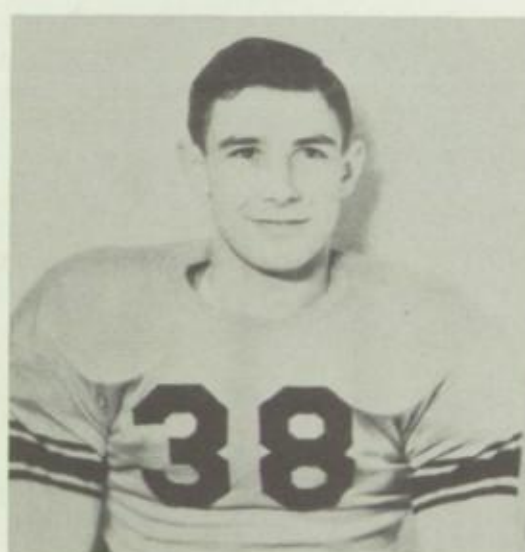

The A's meeting their severest test of the season downed a highly touted Shelby eleven 18-0. The Taylormen playing their best game of the year displayed timely blocking which enabled Norman Fierbaugh, shifty halfback, to reel off three touch-down runs.

The A's traveled to Wooster and raised the win record to five wins against one defeat. Fleetfooted halfback, Mike Glasser, was the big gun as he ripped off long runs against the Generals.

After ten years the Ashland grid team finally broke the jinx by beating Marion Harding on their own field. With the A's taking to the air they repulsed the Prexies by a score of 12-7. Harpster's pin-point passing to flankers Strine and Drebus proved to be the deciding factor in the victory. Ashland's first score came when Mike Glasser tossed to Don Drebus, who ran two more yards for the touchdown. With four minutes to go in the game Harpster passed to Strine, who ran beautifully to the Marion six. From there Burns made three yards, with Fierbaugh reaching pay dirt as the game ended.

VARSITY FOOTBALL TEAM

With over-confidence creeping into the Ashland club the A's bowed to a mediocre Port Clinton club. The Porters surprisingly outplayed the A's in every department and went home with a 13-7 victory.

In the season's finale, Ashland traveled to Galion to lock horns with the Orangemen. In the first half Galion threw a barrage of passes which resulted in a half time lead of 12-0. But the determined Orange and Black came rushing back in the second half to overcome the 12 point lead. Dick Burns and Mike Glasser set the stage for two touchdowns. From here, power driving, Cliff Hurst went over both times for the T. D.'s. But the tries for the extra points were no good. The game ended in a 12-12 deadlock.

The hard working A's wound up a successful season with six wins, two losses and one tie.

After being beaten in their second game of the year by Norwalk, the A's came charging back to win eleven consecutive games. Some of the victims of this winning streak were Mansfield, Toledo Woodward, and Barberton.

In the twelfth game the Taylormen were beaten by Mansfield by a score of 47 to 39. But it was evident that Ashland was going to have one of its best seasons in many years.

Finishing the regular schedule with four more victories the A's prepared with eagerness for the Sandusky Tournament. The Orange and Black were already tagged the team to beat. They lived up to their title by trouncing Port Clinton in the first game 72 to 31. In the second game the A's eliminated Tiffin by a score of 49 to 33.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The team, as well as Coach Taylor, looked forward to the next game because they were to meet Norwalk in the semi-finals. The A's, out for revenge, beat the Maples by a score of 53 to 44.

In the championship game the Taylor Tots were to meet one of their oldest and bitterest rivals, Mansfield. This was the most thrilling game of the year with the A's winning in the last twenty seconds. This enabled Coach C. E. Taylor to take his team to Bowling Green to participate in the regional tournament. A week later the A's, weakened by flu, went to Bowling Green and lost their first game to Findlay, 49 to 32. This brought a sterling season to a close for a team that won the District Championship, also Dick Messner was named on the All-Ohio five, with Don Drebus receiving honorable mention.

As the season opened Coach A. L. Ziemke looked over 40 prospects for J. V. Basketball. The squad was cut to 20 as the boys brushed up on fundamentals.

As the season progressed it was evident that the Junior A's were handicapped from lack of height.

However, what they lacked in height they made up

The team was scheduled for fourteen games, with the district tournament to be held in Ashland in May. After early season setbacks, the A's developed into a fine team which won most of its remaining games.

in the Mansfield Relays, Wesleyan Relays, Newark Relays, and is a strong contender for the annual Ashland Invitational Meet. Such a track team has resulted from long hours of work and practice.

WELL THROW IT PATSY!

Fall comes but once a year and when it comes it brings—hikes and soccer with a few blisters, worn out soles, sprained ankles, and bruised shins thrown in. And so start the more ambitious girl members of the Senior High, better known as the Sr. G.A.C., on their year's busy schedule of sports. Although they complain not a little of how far five miles is, and that Myers Feld is so very far away, they really love every minute of it.

ANOTHER STRIKE? WELL SMILE!

It's a strike! Oh, no it isn't! Some hopeful G.A.C.er has again been disappointed. This does not discourage a G.A.C. bowler. Their motto is "Try Again." But if these hopefuls can't manage an enviable bowling score, perhaps they can be a member of a championship team in ping pong, badminton, shuffleboard or deck tennis. Recreational sports give variety in the after school activities, so come on all you sports loving girls and let's play a few games of——what have you!

FORBIDDEN FRUIT!

PING PONG OR BALLET?

HOW'D SHE GET THAT BALL?

What is your favorite sport? The answer to this question by most members of the G.A.C. will be "basketball." Even though the boys think a game of two-court basketball is rather dull, it's exciting enough for the girls who play it. The sophomore and junior first teams worked hard this year and played some really good games, but they just couldn't stop the determined Senior first team that was bent on having an undefeated season. Better luck another year, girls. Maybe you can be the champs when you're Seniors.

LOW CEILING! KEYS DOWN!

Besides doing all that hard work assigned by Miss Coombs, the leaders find plenty of extra time outside the routine class work. "Leaders aren't always angels." Who said that? The parties they throw for themselves (and "Mom") prove this fact. Anything and everything happens. By anything, is meant dirty knees and black eyes, while everything means Sue's bright remarks when everything is so quiet. Of course, that piano gets its share of wear and tear. So does Miss Coomb's desk. "Hey, you leaders, get off that piano, do you do that at home?"

GET THAT BALL SENIORS!

IS IT GOOD NEWS? ALWAYS!

SYLVIA CONNECTED!

Today's Jr. High students are the school's leaders of tomorrow. With this in mind the Jr. G. A. C. was formed as a younger sister to Sr. G. A. C.

Although their program includes not as many sports as the other organization, these juniors really take advantage of what they have. Their screaming, shouting, and running feet may be heard echoing through the lower corridors as they put every ounce of energy they have into an exciting game of kickball, basketball, or softball.

In one, two, or even three years, they will be the big girls, taking their places as leaders, "A" girls, all-star players, or just good sports; and may then look condescendingly upon the young sports enthusiasts who are taking their first look and try into the wonderful world of G. A. C. activities.
